

Summer 2017

Join Jeff Creswell and Sallie Harkness from Scotland
for the Storyline Alumni Course:

Storyline and Literature-Making Connections in Portland, Oregon

This course is designed for classroom teachers who have had the Storyline I course and are using the Storyline method in their classrooms. The class will be participatory in nature. Teachers will experience how Storyline can help children to deepen their understanding of and appreciation for literature in all its forms. The basic Storyline principals and characteristics will be explored through this process. Participants will learn new ideas for writing their Storyline topics, as well as ways to infuse literature into their existing Storylines. They will have the support to write a new literature rich topic for use in their classroom. We will look at the many ways that the Storyline method can help teachers to design curriculum to meet the demands of the common core standards. Prerequisite: Storyline I: An Introduction

This year we welcome back Sallie Harkness, one of the originators of the Storyline method from Glasgow, Scotland. Sallie's area of expertise is early literacy. She has written a basal reading program incorporating Storyline, and has conducted Storyline workshops around the world.
