

The Scottish Storyline Reunion Conference: Collaborating to Enrich Our Storyline Teaching

Storyline Reunion Conference: How are Storyline principles and characteristics enhanced through collaboration? What are the differences between creating a Storyline unit alone and creating a Storyline unit with a group of teachers? What elements should you consider collaborating with teachers at the same grade level or across grade levels? These are some of the questions that we will work with during this three day conference for people who have taken the Storyline I course and are looking for the opportunity to meet with other Storyline teachers to work on deepening their understanding of this way of working with students. Participants will learn how to incorporate required curriculum goals, desired outcomes, and appropriate assessment techniques, with the opportunity to write their own outline to use in their classrooms during the next school year.
